

Capacity Review

By understanding what you use and how much you are allowed to use, a saving can be made on something you may never have been aware of.

A Capacity Review looks at peaks in your electricity use (Maximum Demand) in relation to how much you are allocated to use (Available Capacity) and analysis of the difference between them can uncover savings.

If you think of your Available Capacity (or KVA) like an overdraft i.e. the bigger the overdraft limit you have the more you are charged for it, then by lowering that limit you lower the associated cost. That's where we come in.

We will review your whole portfolio and give you a breakdown of each site's consumption patterns, supply capacities and potential savings all in an easy to understand report.

We will then take care of all the paperwork for any savings you would like to pursue. The last ten Capacity Reviews have uncovered over £15,200 in saving opportunities.
