

Insights

Make potentially huge positive shifts in your organisation, just by looking at your usage in a different way.

By looking at how power flows through your buildings, you can very effectively manipulate your use of it over time. By extracting all your raw data we can give you a clear analysis or 'Insight' into your half hourly (HH) electricity or gas usage.

This Insight will open up a valuable level of understanding into how your business consumes its energy. We will provide observations and suggestions based on any unusual activity or patterns we think you should be aware of. From here you can set out to discover, observe and ultimately control your own usage.

Insight reports can be used as evidence for any legislation your organisation falls under i.e. ESOS. As your understanding grows you can drill down into your analysis by letting us know exactly what aspect of your usage you want us to report on.

The more you use, the more you are affected by price increases and the knock-on effect to profit.
